

MORNING APPEAL.

THURSDAY.....AUGUST 16, 1877

Yesterday noon an impecunious and seedy looking individual sauntered into the telegraph office of the Virginia and Truckee Railway Company. The only occupant of the office at the time, was Mr. W. D. Mann, the ticket agent. To him the seedy one addressed himself, stating that he had not eaten anything for over forty-eight hours, and did not know how soon he would get anything to satisfy the inner man, unless Mr. Mann found it proper to render him some assistance. By way of recommending himself the applicant gave his name, and stated that he was an old friend of the operator at Truckee—in fact, was a school mate of his. Mr. Mann sitting by the telegraph key all the while, touched it, and called the Truckee operator, asking him whether he knew so and so (writing the name of the seedy individual), and if the Truckee operator was willing that assistance should be extended to his self-recommended friend. Whereupon the lightning manipulator at the terminus of the "direct railroad" replied, "don't give him a cent on my account, he is a d—d b—d." Before Mr. Mann could interpret the telegram to the hungry one, he looked at Mr. Mann with a look full of malice, saying, "that settles it," and walked out of the office. The applicant for something to eat was an operator of the tramp order, and read the reply to Mr. Mann's inquiry, while it was being transmitted. He saw that he had made a mistake and did not wait to rectify it.

H. H. Clark, who has been on a prospecting tour for several weeks at Walker Lake, on the line of the proposed extension of the Virginia and Truckee Railroad, returned here with a very exalted opinion of the section of the country he visited. He reports having seen the finest belt of mineral land ever observed by the human eye, and says that if the railroad is completed to that point, the flocking of miners to the part of Walker Lake he refers to will be the means of unearthing some mineral treasures. Mr. Clark has located a mine there, bearing gold and silver, and will return there soon. There is plenty of timber and water throughout that whole section.

Near the corner of Fourth and Carson streets last evening two men, strangers in the city, apparently in an intoxicated condition, commenced quarreling about a water melon. One attempted to seize the melon from the other, when it dropped on the sidewalk and burst into pieces. This so enraged the man who had held the melon, that he pulled a howie knife, nearly a foot long, and made a desperate lunge at the other, but the deadly weapon failed to reach its mark. The knife was taken from the frenzied individual by a bystander, who at the same time applied a good quantity of boot leather to the would-be murderer. No arrests.

The meeting of the City Trustees called for this evening promises to be an interesting one. A report will be made relative to procuring for the city a greater supply of water than we have had during the summer. There may be a clashing of interests in this respect, but we advocate the greatest good for the largest numbers. An additional supply of water will enable the authorities to flush the sewers and accomplish the object which has been suggested in our columns.

Rules similar to the circular issued by Assistant Secretary McCormick, to the effect that all attaches of the Treasury Department at Washington will be compelled to liquidate their pecuniary obligations or be dismissed the service, have been established at the Carson Mint for several months past. The rules are strictly enforced and seem to work well. Intoxication while on or off duty is also prohibited, with a like penalty attached.

Mr. J. Gilfoyle, foreman at the Virginia & Truckee Railroad Company's round-house, who was so severely burned at the fire in the neighborhood of Major Gardner's residence a few weeks ago, was on the streets last evening with numerous bandages ornamenting his hands and face, but otherwise as well as ever.

The operations of the Mint are at present principally confined to the execution of the subsidiary silver coins for account of the Government, and the manufacture of fine silver bars for depositors. At two o'clock p. m. yesterday the thermometer stood at 150 degrees in the melting room of the Mint.

Hall's Land Journal is the title of a new monthly paper devoted to agriculture, mining, news, science, and general intelligence. It is published in San Francisco, Price $1.50. Mr. Charles V. Hall, editor and proprietor, is now in Carson in the interest of his paper.

Alex. J. Bunting, of Reno, through his attorney, Hon. J. R. Kittrell, instituted suit against the Central Pacific R. R. Co., on Tuesday, for $10,000 damages, for injuries received himself and done to his property by one of the trains of the Company.

J. M. Benton and party were heard from last evening. They are camping out a little above Hope Valley and are having a good time. They report that fishing never was so good as it is this year.

The southern stage brought in last evening from the Red Cloud mine $5,000, and from the endowment mine $3,098, consigned to Wells, Fargo and Co. for reshipment to San Francisco.

The police report a large number of rough characters in the city, but who as yet have committed no overt acts. They are known and their movements will be closely looked after.

A party of English army officers, recently from India, passed through Carson, on the opposition stage, for Virginia last evening.

The Winston Exchange Saloon has succumbed to the pressure of the times, and its doors were closed yesterday.

Parson Kelley came down from the Lake yesterday evening, on a flying visit.

From Mr. H. Woodruff, Wells, Fargo & Co.'s messenger, we learn that a shooting affray occurred at Bodie a few days ago, in which an American named John Wheeler and a Mexican called C. Rivas were the parties most interested. It appears that Wheeler was in the Mexican's employ, hauling wood. After working for Rivas a long while Wheeler demanded a settlement with his employer, who owed him $900. The Mexican drew one check for the amount, but Wheeler stated that he wanted the amount due him paid in smaller checks or gold coin. The men had evidently been drinking, and after much talk proceeded to pelt each other with stones. This procedure not entirely satisfying them, they drew their pistols and opened their batteries of fire. Three shots were exchanged, and the last one fired by Wheeler inflicted a mortal wound upon the person of the Mexican, who expired in a few moments after. John Wheeler was taken charge of by the authorities and, after a preliminary examination, was discharged, as the evidence adduced proved that the prisoner had acted in self-defense.

From May 1, 1874, to the 30th of June, 1877, $5,703,496 59 in subsidiary silver coins, were shipped from the Carson Mint, per Wells, Fargo & Co., to the Assistant United States Treasurers at New York, St. Louis, Baltimore, Chicago, Philadelphia and New Orleans. Experts pronounced these coins, in point of execution, equal to any produced by any mint in the world.

Mrs. E. R. Elrod, recently thrown out of a buggy while driving with her son, is making rapid progress towards the complete recovery of her health. At last accounts the lady was able to sit up, and felt as comfortable as could be reasonably expected.

George W. Hawkins, the man who was injured by falling between a locomotive and tender some time ago, is recuperating his strength rapidly, and his early appearance on the streets may be looked for.

Frank B. Kennedy, who was injured at the Mint on Tuesday, although not seriously hurt, was not resting very well yesterday, which is likely the result of the nervous shock he received while falling.

William J. Brophy, for many years prominently connected with the Crown Point mine, has arrived from the eastern portion of the State; where he discovered and located some valuable mining property.

Our music loving people will make an effort to secure the attendance at the Carson Theater of the Riching's opera troupe, which opens for a limited season at Virginia on the 21st instant.

STOCKS.—No change in the prices, at least none to make the holder smile. At present quotations there is not much nutriment in the market, either for bulls or bears.

The police complain of experiencing very dull times in their line—very few drunks, less burglars, and no murders. Whither are we drifting?

A number of small business suspensions occurred yesterday. The embarrassments are temporary; the parties expect to open again.

George W. Bryant, melter and refiner of the Mint, went to Soda Lake in California, last evening for the benefit of his health.

Major E. B. Stonehill, a prominent member of the Virginia City Bar was in Carson yesterday.

Gold Hill News: The Sutro Tunnel continues its ever onward and slightly upward grade toward the deep fastnesses of the mighty Comstock. It is already within the eastern confines or outskirts of the great lode, and less than 2,000 feet more will carry it directly into the working of the Savage mine. What the tunnel will pass through in the 2,000 feet it remains to be seen, but a high degree of interest is felt on the subject. There is plenty of room for a good-sized bonanza, and it is a very likely and eligible place for one, or even two. The deepest point yet attained in the practical workings of any mine on the Comstock, regardless of topographical undulations or inequalities at the surface, is in the Yellow Jacket mine. The 2,200-foot level, where all prospecting and development of the mine at present is being done is 775 feet below the level of the Sutro Tunnel, or 170 feet below the level of the lowest workings of the Imperial mine, which shows the deepest workings of any mine on the lode.

From her father Anna Dickinson inherits the ardor, passion, and almost insane love of justice which distinguish her, while from her mother comes the love of fine and rare things, the tenacity of purpose, the perseverance and determination to do or die, which are equally a part of her nature. Her home consists of an apartment shut in from everything but the breeze which comes through the foliaged spaces of one of the wide streets of New York. Here she lives with her maid, her books, her pictures and her work; and here her intimates share her dainty lunch or quiet dinner, unpretending as to description of viands, but exquisitely cooked, and served in rare old china, with the addition of elegant bits of glass and antique silver.—Jennie June.

One of the signs of the times is the eagerness with which American boot and shoemakers are scouring all regions of the earth to build up a foreign trade in their goods. They are succeeding fairly. American styles are popular, and there is a prospect of America shoeing the Japanese Empire and all South America.
